COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

During the warm summer evenings a number of people are on the streets late into the night. Persons out for a stroll, or a short evening drive. Some of these are local persons, others are vacationists enjoying the beauty of the town. There are adults as well as youths.

It is a disgrace to the town as a whole when six or eight youths, mostly of high school age, and particularly boys from reputable families will congregate on Main Street in the area of the Post Office building at various times during the evening from eight o'clock until long after midnight, making loud talk, using vulgar and highly profane language and this past week shooting off large firecrackers. This first came to my attention this last week by complaints from persons living in the area as to what has been going on. In checking with Night Officer Cotton it was learned that this group has been receiving warnings from him to curtail their activities, as well as being spoken to by Trooper Bickford. One night last week Deputy Sheriff Albert Grover was called out after midnight due to this group disturbing the peace. It is evident that warnings are falling on closed ears and that unless parents cooperate with our law enforcement officials, certain youths will find themselves before the municipal court to explain reasons for their activities.

The question of a curfew has been raised, but the usual curfew age limit is 16, and most of this particular group is over the curfew age limit. It is all right to have fun and enjoy one's self while a youth and adults believe that youth should, but to create disturbances to the detriment and without consideration for others is entirely uncalled for.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

Two Chevy middleweights prove their rawhide stamina!

Top hands on high-country hauls!

Ask any trucker who's been over Wolf Creek Pass, 10,850 feet up in the San Juans: a 9-mile pull to the summit and low gear all the way down. Mr. C. H. Phillips of Alamogordo, has a 6403 and a 6503 Chevrolet truck that are up over this route the year round, taking sheep and beef to pasture, later marketing the stock in Denver. In less than a year, his Chevy middleweights have averaged about 50,000 miles of this kind of treatment—and they're going stronger than ever! Watch Chevy trucks at work out in range country. It's a sight to see the way they pack into high-up mountain pastures and handle through brush and rock like a cowman's favorite cutting horse. Take any truck work for that matter. Chevy middleweights probably handle a bigger variety of jobs than any trucks alive. About anything you name, including work that used to be reserved strictly for bigger rigs. When a truck's built the way a Chevy is, lean-muscled and rawhide-tough, it takes to ugly trails the same way most trucks roll over the highway. It just keeps going, without a big to-do, but looking good every mile of the way. How they do it is your Chevrolet dealer's department. He'll be glad to supply details and specifications on the type of models you need.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

FIRST TOUCH OF FALL
August is not a favorite month and one wonders how many citizens proclaim, "It's not the heat, it's the humidity." But no matter how sticky the air or how slowly the days plod by, there comes a day toward the end of the month when the first touch of fall is certain.

Any time after the middle of August there may come the first thin shadow of autumn. In the lowland swamp, maples fling out red pennants; Joe Pye Weed lifts purple blossoms along the roadside; and sumacs' candles turn wine-red. In the swales, brown cattails stand like inverted exclamation points, and along upland pasture fences, woodbine leaves show streaks of scarlet and purple.

There is no specific date for the first touch of fall, but a man is sure of the change as he watches goldenrod and asters brighten the field corners. He knows that time has tapped Earth when he sees corn silks turning brown and pumpkins turning yellow. One day in the hillside orchard, he sees the first ripe Duchess and a faint blush of color on the Pippins.

Hot day may follow hot day as the month moves toward autumn's threshold. Thunderheads burgeon and the sky gods hurl red spears; pelting showers drench the land and the air may be as sultry after a shower as before.

But one evening it always happens. As a man comes in from milking with lantern and milkpail on arm, he suddenly realizes the days have become shorter. He stops in the yard to look at the mountain silhouetted against the night. He

MAN'S RECIPE

THREE FRUIT DELIGHT
If you are just a foresighted person who feels more comfortable when well organized, here is a tasty summer dessert that you can keep in the refrigerator for days.

The most interesting thing in the world is human nature, and you readily find all kinds. Some folks live a happy go lucky, casual, day to day existence. They don't worry about the future, and they don't care about the past. They don't figure ahead and they don't worry.

There is much to be said for this philosophy, but it is not the way I am built. I plan and figure: I worry and wonder. Father used to say that it is good for most of us to have a little something to worry about. If they don't stop making men's pajamas and sports shirts in such violent colors, I'm going to worry about that. The last pajamas Blanche bought me are really something for a 58 year old farmer.

We like this dessert. Cook one half pound prunes; then cool and stone. Into a double boiler put one half pound chopped seeded raisins, one half pound finely cut figs, the stoned prunes and the water in which the prunes were cooked. Cook for 35-45 minutes, stirring occasionally. You can serve this fruit combination alone or with light cream. This Delight is just right for supper on a hot summer day.

can feel it! There is an edge to the wind—a cool, cutting edge. It is a definite sign. Fall is just around the corner.

POSSIBLE MAINE MINERAL DEPOSITS DISCOVERED BY RECENT AERIAL SURVEYS

Several areas which possibly may contain economic mineral deposits have been revealed by recent Maine aeromagnetic surveys, State Geologist Robert G. Doyle announced.

Detailed field examination will be necessary to determine the kind and quality of the minerals which were indicated to exist within a 1,000 square mile area in Penobscot, Piscataquis and Aroostook counties. Published results of the survey, showing location of the minerals, are on sale at the Maine Geological Survey Office, State House.

Two smaller areas in Kennebec County were covered in another survey; one in the Augusta-Sidney area and the other over Iron Hill, Gardiner. The Gardiner location contains an iron pyrite body which has possible economic significance as a source of industrial sulphur Doyle said.

Other published survey reports cover large areas in Hancock, Penobscot, Washington, and Aroostook counties.

The 1959 aeromagnetic survey series was contracted by the Geological Survey Division of the Department of Economic Development to the James W. Russell Company of Old Town. Lawrence A. Wing, chief geologist for the company, conducted the survey and interpreted the basic data for publication.

"The amazing speed of exploratory work by airplane is demonstrated by time and cost comparisons between this method and prospecting from the ground, to acquire identical aeromagnetic data," Doyle commented.

"It would take a ground team of four or five men one full year to cover the more than 1,000 miles of flight lines flown by the plane in 25 hours, and costs would be five times greater."

"When one considers the obstacles of fighting on foot through wilderness country, taking cumbersome equipment and necessary food and campfire supplies, surveying lake and marshlands in the winter, when they are frozen over and accessible, the contrast in method is vividly evident."

The basic idea of aeromagnetic survey is fairly simple, although it requires a trained specialist to conduct the survey and record and interpret the results.

A plane, flying at a fairly constant speed and altitude, carries a self-suspended magnetometer, which measures and records magnetic conditions to the earth beneath it.

DAVIS - BERRY

The Union Church of South Woodstock was the scene of an attractive summer wedding, Saturday afternoon at 4:00 P. M., August 8th, when marriage vows were exchanged between Christina Marie Berry, of Bryant Pond, and Gayden George Thomas Davis of South Woodstock. Rev. Alton Verrill performed the double-ring service beneath a beautifully decorated arch of ferns, white sweet peas, Persian clover and white gladioli. Mrs. Addelynn Mann of Bryant Pond acted as pianist and Jeanne Carlini of Bryant Pond, as soloist, sang "O Promise Me" and "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Kenneth Berry, of South Paris, was attired in a floor length gown of net over white tulle with a finger tip veil. She carried a bouquet of red rosebuds on a white prayer book.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Cecil Farnum of Bryant Pond, sister of the groom. She was dressed in a gown of pink nylon net and carried a colonial bouquet. Miss Dorothy Bean of South Woodstock served as bridesmaid. Her gown was of green nylon net and she was carrying a colonial bouquet.

Robert Deegan of Bethel, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Others were Cecil Farnum of Bryant Pond, brother-in-law of the groom, and Gilman Whitman of Bryant Pond.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony. Cutting and serving the wedding cake was Mrs. Sam Bean of Bryant Pond. Presiding at the church bowls were Mrs. Gerold Davis of Freeport, and Mrs. Guyson Davis of South Woodstock. At the refreshment table was Miss Geraldine Davis of Freeport. The gift table was presided over by Mrs. Alire Morey of Fort Kent; Mrs. Gilman Berry of Bethel; and Mrs. Margaret Carroll Berry of South Paris. For the past several years she has resided at Bryant Pond and attended the local schools, graduating from Woodstock High School in the class of '59.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gayden G. Davis of South Woodstock. He attended the grade schools of South Woodstock and Woodstock High School. He has employment at the Freeport Shoe Co. Following a brief honeymoon at Old Orchard they will reside at Freeport.

TODAY'S Meditation

from Chelupper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, August 20
Read Psalm 41

Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. (Matthew 5:7.)

THE word beatitude means "blessing." It has a higher content of meaning than either "happiness" or "well-being." Thomas Carlyle once said, "If you find blessedness, you can dispense with happiness."

In regard to this beatitude of mercy, we are to take divine mercy as our pattern. God's mercy is no mere sentiment. His mercy is based on man's lowly, sinful state. In mercy, He sent Christ into the world. The whole story of God's mercy is so beautifully expressed in John 3:16: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

This mercy of God to us must reflect to our fellow men. Mercy is the quality that prompts us to affection for persons and service to them. It brings also in its train healing for ourselves. "Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy." Through mercy given to others, we ourselves receive mercy from God.

PRAYER: Blessed Father, give to each of us the spirit of mercy. We thank Thee for Thy mercy to us in the giving of Christ, our Lord and Saviour, to suffer on the cross for us and to assure our salvation. As we remember Him, lead us to show mercy to others. In the blessed Redeemer's name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
"We do pray for mercy; and the same prayer doth teach us all to render the deeds of mercy." —H. D. Ranss (Ontario)

LIFE LINES

by Col. Ralph T. Miller of The Salvation Army

WHY THEY LOVED LA GUARDIA

American history has had no more colorful character than Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, of New York City: "The Little Flower." He was an energetic, enthusiastic, intense person. He had great ability as an orator and could sway crowds of people in any direction he wished.

It was a real experience to meet him, and come to know him.

Once, while the officer in charge of Salvation Army work in Brooklyn, I received a phone call from his secretary, asking if I could meet Mayor La Guardia at Madison Square Garden where he was to speak.

I couldn't understand what the Mayor of New York could want of an unknown Salvation Army Officer, but I kept my promise and went. When I arrived, I found out what he wanted.

He asked me to stand at the door where the many "big shots" who were to sit on the platform were to come in. It was my responsibility to introduce myself and get their names. Then I would take each one to the door of Mr. La Guardia's waiting room and say, "Mayor La Guardia, you know Mr. Jenkins, do you not?" Each time the Mayor would look at me in simulated disgust, and say, "Know him! Of course, I know him! Come in, Jenkins!"

Each person he greeted would swell up with pride, as if saying to himself, "The Mayor remembered me. Isn't that wonderful!"

But it bothered me a little. I wondered if it was quite honest. So after the meeting, as we were chatting, I said, "Mayor La Guardia, why do you place so much importance on knowing the names of these people, or giving them that impression?" "Young man," he answered, "I'm not deceiving them, I know their names; I just misplace them sometimes, but remember this, the most fundamental need of every human being is to be remembered and thought important."

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank all my friends who sent cards and letters to me during my stay at the C. M. G. Hospital. It makes an enforced stay more enjoyable to receive lots of mail.

60 YEARS AGO

The plant of the Bethel Manufacturing Co., later the dowel mill of H. F. Thurston & Son until it burned in the fall of 1944. This 2½ story building was equipped for the manufacture of chair stock, lumber, spool stock and shingles. The finishing and shipping department for chairs was in the building nearby which is now part of the Davis mill property. The chair business was established by J. H. Barrows in 1886. In 1887 the Bethel Chair Company was incorporated, and merged into the Bethel Manufacturing Company in 1890.

HERBERT G. MASON

Herbert G. Mason, who had been retired from nearly fifty years work at the Tebbets mill in Locke Mills, died suddenly at his home, Monday morning.

Mr. Mason was born in Hanover, Jan. 25, 1886, the son of George C. and Annette Church-Mason. His family lived in Bethel several years where he attended school in the Swan's Hill neighborhood.

About fifty-five years ago the family came to this town where they have since resided. Mr. Mason has lived in his present home, the former Abner and Lucy Libby residence for about fifty years. In May 1926 he married Ruby D. Cole who passed away in March 1957. Herb, as he was known to his many friends, was a thoroughly honest and upright citizen, and his many acts of kindness and charity will long be remembered.

He was especially interested in children and young people and was always ready and happy to give them a kind word of advice or more substantial assistance.

He was a fifty year member of Fraternal Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Bryant Pond, and a member of Jackson-Silver Post, American Legion, of this town, having served in the Armed Forces in World War I.

Through his efforts, in a large measure, Jackson-Silver Post was founded and the first Legion Hall constructed.

Herb's many friends, both young and old, will mourn his loss for long years to come.

To awaken interest and kindle enthusiasm is the sure way to teach easily and successfully.—Tryon Edwards.

BETHEL, MAINE

The Maine Highway Safety Committee reminds us that we should drive "according to conditions". During a heavy rain, storm it is, of course, very obvious that we should drive very slowly and very cautiously. Remember, also, that even after the rain stops, a wet road surface makes fast driving extremely dangerous. Faced with the necessity of making a sudden stop under such conditions, a driver who has failed to slow down finds himself in a very dangerous situation. Make allowances for conditions and lean over backwards to avoid trouble.
